

EOLE-RES is opening its Marsanne, Haut Languedoc and Lomont wind farms to the public for the EUROPEAN WIND DAY 2008

For the second European Wind Day, which will be held once again on the 15th June, over 40 wind farms in France will be open to the public, including Marsanne (Drôme), Haut Languedoc (Hérault) and Lomont (Doubs), all farms developed and built by EOLE-RES.

On the 15th June, come and find out more about wind energy! The Marsanne, Haut Languedoc and Lomont wind farms, developed and built by EOLE-RES, will be open to the general public and members of EOLE-RES staff will be on site to welcome you and reply to any questions you may have concerning wind energy.

This second European Wind Day, coordinated at a national level by France Energie Eolienne (FEE), the wind division of the Renewable Energy Syndicate (SER), aims at reminding both decision makers and the general public of the important role wind energy already plays and will come to play in Europe.

The SER and FEE wish to promote wind energy as a sustainable solution to current energy and climate problems and hope that these open-days through-out France will be convivial, animated and instructive.

Come along and bring family and friends!
